Piano Peripatetic Teacher (self-employed) – April 2024

At Cumnor House School, we pride ourselves on encouraging a genuine love for learning. From a very young age, we support our children in their development of a sense of curiosity, open-mindedness, perseverance, reflection, and critical thinking. This thirst for growth and knowledge is one that stays with them throughout their school years, meaning they enter each stage of their lives best prepared for the challenges and opportunities ahead.

We are seeking to appoint an experienced Piano Peripatetic Teacher (self-employed) to start in April 2024. The post is initially for 1 year, but there may be a possibility of continuing after this.

The opportunity

Applications are welcome from enthusiastic, personable and suitably experienced Piano teachers for our thriving Music Department at Cumnor House Boys. The successful candidate will be comfortable teaching children aged 5 to 13 at a range of ability levels. We are a fun and friendly department with hard-working students, and we are seeking a team-player who would also enjoy getting involved in the musical culture of the school through leading ensembles and supporting at concerts.

The ability to teach other instruments would also be an advantage.

Who are you?

The successful candidate will ideally have prior experience working in a similar setting, be flexible, have an enthusiastic and caring attitude with the ability to engage with the children in a warm and supportive way. You will need to be an effective communicator who can use their initiative to provide a variety of engaging and stimulating lessons.

Remuneration

- Competitive rate depending upon qualifications and experience
- Professional Development
